Tia has always loved the art of storytelling. She weaves stories of motherhood, marriage, and crazy childhood antics with the bigger story of how God is working in her life and in this world. She wants to help you discover the story that God has written for you. In her home you might find no less than 19 unfinished crafting projects. She loves to laugh, drinks too much coffee, and her 5 year old son says she is an excellent dancer. After living in Alaska for almost ten years, she now absolutely loves living closer to family and staying home with her boys. She lives in Des Moines, Iowa with her husband and two sons.
